Proposed Solar Ordinance

My only comment regarding development of an Ordinance is that the county should consider rating agriculture land not only by soil type; but access to water deliveries. During the last ten years many Class B lands have had little or no irrigation. Land owners are forced to always participate in Klamath Project drought relief program. This program is based on Federal funding and there is no guarantee that it will continue each year. So without ability to irrigate due to current government policies Klamath County land owners are forced to survive with too much uncertainty. Granted no one desires a solar farm next to their property but farming the sun might be a viable option to landowners of Klamath County.

I appreciate your consideration
